Western Weather

The great midwest gets into print, in letters of a crimson tint, whenever a cyclone journeys thence and tears the pickets from a fence. The ring-tailed twisters of the air cause nothing but amusement there; they chase a farmer now and then, or lift a porker from its pen, but seldom do they cause a wail, or leave much wreckage in their trail. And when a winter blizzard comes, and o'er the western prairie hums, and causes more or less distress, it gets ten columns in the press. But raging blizzards seldom blow—there was one thirty years ago; but babes have grown to man's estate nor yet beheld one—which is straight. And every little breeze that blows into a cyclone promptly grows; a gust of snow, with icy breath, becomes a blizzard, charged with death, to hungry writers on their beats, pursuing news for outside sheets. But who will your attention call to western weather, in the fall? Who can describe the golden days, the smiling skies, the purple haze, the gentle winds that softly fan the forehead of the dreaming man? If there's a bard, inspired enough, what editor would print the stuff?

FOR SPRING CLEAN-UP AND PAINT-UP WEEK

Preliminary Plans Discussed by Master House Painters and Decorators' Association.

Preliminary plans for a spring clean-up and paint-up week were discussed yesterday afternoon at a meeting at the Builders' Exchange, held under the auspices of the Master House Painters and Decorators' Association of the District of Columbia. It was decided to appoint a committee of seven, representing the masters' organization, the Central Labor Union, the Building Trades Council, Local No. 268 of the Brotherhood of Painters, Paperhangers and Decorators, and the clean city committee, to arrange a meeting to be held at the Builders' Exchange Monday afternoon. At that time a plan of campaign is to be adopted for a general clean-up and paint-up campaign to cover the entire District.

George H. Markward, president of the Master Painters' organization, presided at yesterday's meeting, with Charles E. Welsh, secretary of the Builders and Manufacturers' Exchange, acting as secretary.

W. H. Richardson, chairman of the clean city committee, who was present at the meeting, was assured that full co-operation and financial support of the organizations represented would be given the annual spring clean-up movement. It was announced that pledges of support had been received from practically every labor, commercial and civic organization in the District to the plan for a comprehensive "clean-up" and "paint-up" campaign next spring.

SAFELY THROUGH THE GALE.

Two Schooners in Port After Encountering Heavy Storm.

Two schooners well known at this port, the Richmond and the Lizzie A. Williams, which were out in the northeast gale that has been sweeping the Atlantic coast for several weeks past, and for the safety of which considerable anxiety was felt, have arrived in port in good condition, after a strenuous experience. The Richmond, bound from Lewes, Del., to Salisbury, Md., passed in the capes of the Chesapeake yesterday, and the Williams has arrived in safety at Norfolk.

In all the Chesapeake bay harbors are fleets of bay vessels unable to continue their voyages on account of the storm, which rivermen say is one of the longest continued northeasters they can recall. Some of the vessels have been weatherbound for a week or ten days, and there is yet but little indication of their being released.

SUES DISTRICT FOR $25,000.

John C. Daley Alleges Fall on Sidewalk Made Him Permanent Invalid.

Alleging that a fall on an icy sidewalk in front of premises 15 T street northwest, January 21, 1912, rendered him a permanent invalid and caused him to lose his position as captain of the metropolitan police, John C. Daley has sued the District of Columbia to recover $25,000 damages.

Through Attorney Webster Ballinger, the retired captain charges that the District was remiss in its duty to keep the sidewalk of the city in a safe condition. Capt. Daley says he has been put to $1,000 expense in efforts to be cured of his injuries.
